

Service User Representative

Intrapartum Clinical Study Group

- ◆ Are you passionate about improving care of mothers and their babies during labour?
- ◆ Do you want to get involved in research?
- ◆ Do you have experience of working in a multidisciplinary committee?

The Intrapartum Clinical Study Group led by Dr Sara Kenyon is looking for an interested and motivated Service User representative to join the multidisciplinary Executive Group to help review, develop and undertake good quality research. As part of the Executive Group you would be expected to attend two/three meetings a year in Birmingham with intellectual activity between. Reasonable travel expenses and childcare costs will be paid.

The remit for the Group as a whole is to propose and develop new trials and other well designed studies in intrapartum care, to consider trials proposed by members of the Group and others and to provide specific advice to investigators. The Executive Group leads the Working Group. More information, research priorities and minutes of the meetings can be found on the website: www.bmfms.org.uk/Intrapartum-care-CSG/c-1-38

To apply for the Executive Group, please send a focused CV (2 page maximum) and covering letter detailing why you would like to be part of this exciting opportunity by email to s.kenyon@bham.ac.uk by 15th December 2014. Informal enquiries should be made to the same email.

